

Social media training for member networks

Finding and planning content

How do you find relevant content?

- What subjects are of interest to your community?
- Is there somewhere you can find all the information you need?
 - Website (e.g. NobelPrize.org)

Planning your content

Planning your content: Target audience

Is this message for your members or members of the public?

- Consider if you need to use jargon
- Will you use specialised hashtags or can you tie in with something more general (e.g. #ClimateChange, #WorldAIDSDay)?

Who is this event for? Consider the demographics of social media use:

- Facebook is great for reaching an older audience
- LinkedIn works best for contacting professional audiences
- Different countries use social media differently – if you want to reach members in India you should promote your event on Facebook!

Planning your comment: Tone of voice

- Keep it simple: keep the text clear, concise and inclusive
- Do not talk at them, but rather to them
- Use emojis on twitter and Facebook to tone down the message
- Add personality to the text – allow your online identity to be seen

Developing content

Break down your content to make it more engaging

Start by engaging your audience with an opening statement or question

Make your text informative but concise – character limits are limits , not targets!

Finish with a call to action : direct people to a link to register or learn more

Find

- Find content on Twitter by searching for the relevant words or hashtags
- Find content on relevant websites.

- Find content on Facebook by searching for the relevant words or hashtags
- Find content on relevant websites.

- Find content on LinkedIn by searching for the relevant words or hashtags
- Find content on relevant websites.

Plan

- Use a soft tone for your message

-

Stay present

- Be active
- Post regularly – once or twice a week is fine!
- Engage with relevant people

If you struggle for time and can't post regularly, then there are ways to schedule your posts in advance. We will cover this during our third webinar.

Twitter is a fast paced channel.

Use short fun copy, be

Thank you