

Lighting

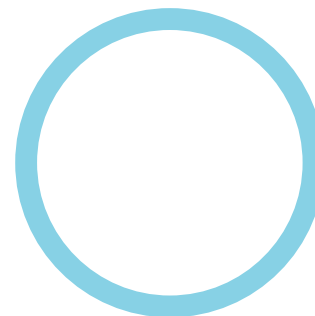

Scandium iodide is added to mercury vapour lamps to produce light similar to sunlight for film and TV.

Alloys

Scandium and aluminium combined make a light but strong alloy used for sports equipment and fighter jets.

Medical

Scandium-46 is a radioactive isotope which can be used to detect leaks in underground pipes.